As we have learned from FIFA 17, the in-game representation of players' movements and activities is extremely realistic and authentic. The team at Visual Concepts then used the same simulation engine to provide a new kind of "sportspatial immersion" to players as they move across the pitch. EA Sports has released a new trailer that shows how the technology is powered in FIFA 22, and we've got a look at the features in FIFA Ultimate Team before launch. Collecting the Best Players, Behaviours and Tactics EA SPORTS brings you a fresh approach to building your Ultimate Team, because the best players in FIFA 22 aren't automatically the best choice. For the first time ever, we've introduced four new specific game modes where you'll need to collect the best players, learn their movements and tactics, and unlock more of their stats to improve your level of skill. • Determined Matches – Begin matches with a specific event or milestone in mind. You'll compete in three minute, timed matches with multiple unique objectives to achieve. The more you collect the better you'll be able to earn Gold Packs, Player Items, and more of the best players in the game. • Take Control Matches – Begin matches with five specific game settings. Choose from Formation or Kit, Victory Theme, XIs and Seasons, special rules and a host of other options. The more you create the better you'll be able to unlock collectables, Gold Packs and Player Items. • Quick Match Matches

- Decide how you want to play before your match begins. Choose the players, opponents, kits, stadium, venue, and other options to create your own custom matches. The more you create the better you'll be able to unlock collectables, Gold Packs, and Player Items. • Custom Matches - Create your own matches with friends and the AI. You'll have all the same settings as in Quick Match Matches, but you'll also get access to all the Game Modes, Kits, Opponents, Free Agents, players, team templates, creation tools, and more. Special Gamemodes There are nine special game modes in FIFA 22 - Test Your Skill, Face Off, Eliminator, FIA Freestyle, FIFA Squads, Pause Free For 2v2, Practice Mode, Free Create and FIFA Ultimate Team Championship.

It's the most immersive football gameplay on any platform, made for your speed. A lot of our DNA is still present, but we've also added a number of key features to make your experience even more authentic. Things have changed a lot in the last couple of years. FIFA 19 features smarter AI opponents, dynamic outdoor weather and a new 5v5 mode called FUT Leagues, but also got rid of an enormous chunk of content. In FIFA 20, we developed a six-year cycle to make the game feel new again. We knew that if we refreshed the game every year, it could feel stale after a while, so we introduced a FIFA Points system, which lets players buy cosmetic items. We're going back to the core principles of the game. This year we'll be focusing on the bigger challenge of FIFA being a mobile sport. So we're looking at new ways to improve the game experience. We're adding new ways for your opponents to interact with the world around them, such as tackling a player into the street. We're also introducing real-world crowd animation, with a new widescreen zoom camera which lets you experience the game from an elevated view of the crowd - so that you get even closer to the action. We want you to feel like you're really there in the stadium, as well as on the pitch. You also get more player and team cards, giving you more space to manage your line-up and develop your favourite players. We've also added a new tier of Division-based competitions, with a revamped World Cup mode, FUT Leagues, friendlies, and a revamped customisation system. This year you'll be able to customise lots of things, including kits, player faces, player styles, and team traits. You'll also be able to buy and sell players directly, and your purchase history is bc9d6d6daa
