Yes I can't use it anymore, When I try to make a model in Revit for my CAD. The structure is not even close to what I need to use, it does not even have any calculation ability. Therefore I have been using SketchUp since then. There structure is not only than CAD for me, but also others can also use it. Thank you for replying! It would be nice if you helped me set up the correct software as I am not very experienced with it. Firstly I have installed SketchUp. I am not sure, whether it is the correct license for this license, and if not, how to send it to you. I also have now Autodesk which I cannot install properly, because of this error: I have no experience with this one, nor which one is the correct license. Do I need some paid version to make its working? As it was mentioned before, AutoCAD cannot open the file and I do not have the license to use the Autodesk. But SketchUp is working as it should be.Q: how to start the server when I click a button in my windows forms application? I have a button in my application when I click on the button, the server.exe starts and waits until I press the ctrl+c to stop the server. when I close the application and go to task manager I find my application is still running. how to close the server when I close the application? thanks. A: Don't start it manually. Just use the AppDomain to contain the server and either use.Dispose() or.Shutdown() to get rid of the AppDomain. Q: jQuery validate plugin - range of values I am using the jquery validate plugin to validate 2 fields on my form. One of the fields allows the user to input numbers and the other allows user to enter a time in HH:MM format.
